NOV. 2351

TUESDAY, JANUARY 4. 1743.

Yesterday arriv'd the Two Mails due from Holland.

Moscow, Dec. 10.

THE Court seems impatient to return to Petersburg, in order to be nearer at hand to the rest of the Powers of Europe in this critical Juncture, when so much depends on the Measures taken by her Imperial Majesty. Besides, now his Imperial Highness's Title to the Succession is settled, so as to Risk the Hearts of the Nobility having visibly with their Hands in this Affair, her Majesty's Business seems to be over. Her Councils at Petersburg will turn, I. On terminating the War with Sweden, II. On sending Succours to the Hungarians, which is a Point absolutely fixed, only with the Consent but at the Request of a certain Prince in Germany, who was formerly very averse to it. III. The Release of the Prince and Princess of Anhalt, and the Settlement of their Pretensions so prevent any future Disturbances in the Empire. In this, it said, a Plan has been formed extremely agreeable to that Family, and which once accepted, the Succession, as settled thereby, will be guaranteed to the principal Powers in Europe. On the 7th instant the Empress gave a Dinner to 1500 poor People in the Palace of Kremlin, and at the End of the Meal gave each of them with a Purse, in which were 10 Roubles. These Purse were wrought by her Majesty's Maids of Honour. Her Imperial Majesty has the proper to make it publick, that some of the Prisoners in Siberia, particularly Count Munich and Lowenwolde, had behaved in so unbecoming a manner, that it was necessary to restrain them; that Orders were dispatched for that Purpose, her Majesty expressly declared their Appointments and other Privileges should be continued. The Court will set before the New Year.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19. Things are still in a great Ferment, and we are actually arming as if we had no hopes of Peace. The Burgesses and Peasants were trying the accused Generals before a Committee of Officers, but the Nobles and Clergy rejected that Proposal, and referred them to a Court Martial. Officers are seized and imprisoned, and in all probability Sacrifices will be made, to pacify the People for the late Disorders. It is certain, that the Prince Royal of Denmark has no considerable Party here, nor are we alarmed at the Armaments in that Kingdom.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26. We perceive some new Appearances at Court, which give us more Satisfaction in our late Military Preparations; which, however, are wholly discontinued. The English Resident Mr. Boscawen has been of late as busy at Court as the French, and seems in some measure to have got the better of him. It is reported, that he gave his Majesty a new System which will soon take place, and which, if it was not his own Fault his Majesty might have great Advantages. A few Days ago a grand Council was held on the present State of Affairs, at the Issue of which M. de Berckenin, Privy-Counselor and of the Council, gave Orders on his Return home to have his baggage all ready for an immediate Journey. This for some time surprized the City, but on the 21st, after several Conferences with M. Palmenthierna the Swedish Minister, he set out for Stockholm, with the Character of President of Minister Plenipotentiary, but with a Power of signing that of Ambassador Extraordinary. It seems that his Majesty will now content himself with a Treaty, which the Court of Sweden shall guaranty to him, and the Duchy of Sleswick, and render the present Peace between the Two Crowns perpetual. The Duke of Holstein Successor to the Czarina, is to please his Majesty as much as he was nettled at the Election to the Throne of Sweden. The Marriage of one of our Princesses to the Duke's Uncle brother is talk'd of.

London, Dec. 12. The Fleet from Rio de Janeiro is arriv'd here safely in 82 Days, and is very richly laden; it consists of two Men of War, and 17 Merchant-ships, having on board no less than 16 Millions in Gold, coin'd and uncoin'd. There are also arriv'd two other Vessels from the West Indies, the License-ship and a Man of War from the Bay of All-Saints. We have hourly fresh Accounts of the Ruins in the late Storm. It is observ'd here as a Thing not a little strange, that notwithstanding the Regulation which forbids above six Men of War of the same Nation to remain in this Port at a time, yet there are at present 8 English Men of War here, without the least Notice being taken of it.

Geneva, Dec. 27. The last Advices from Savoy inform us, that the two Armies were in sight of each other; that the Forces of the King of Sardinia were most advantageously posted, and were disposed to hazard a Battle. We have just now a Report, that the Spanish Army has begun its March towards Chambery.

Geneva, Dec. 29. Private Letters from the Sardinian Camp inform us, that his Majesty finding he had been misinformed as to the Force of the Spanish Army, and that it consisted of upwards of 24,000 Men, he found it necessary to abandon Chambery, which he did on the 27th, and that in the Evening the Van of the Spanish Army entered the Place.

Geneva, Dec. 15. We begin to be under great Concern on account of a new Revolt at Corsica, the rather, because the Rebels act with greater Caution than formerly, and have taken care to provide themselves with vast Magazines. The Republick however has taken a Resolution of augmenting its Troops, and of endeavouring to reduce them by Force. A Spanish Officer who went Post lately thro' this City to Naples, reports, that he carried the last Orders for the March of the 14 Battalions and 10 Squadrons, that were to go from that Kingdom to join the Army in Italy, which their Catholic Majesties are determined shall be augmented to 70,000 Men by the Beginning of the Spring.

An authentick Account of the Retreat of M. Belle-Isle from Prague to Egra, in a Letter from a German Officer who accompanied him to M. Thoring at Franchfort.

Egra, Dec. 28. About the Middle of November his Excellency caused a strict Account to be taken, tho' with the utmost Privacy, of the Provisions of all Sorts which were in Prague; and finding that it was impossible his Forces could subsist there above 10 Weeks, he took a Resolution of attempting what he has since performed. It is true, that he once hinted something of the Kind to M. Broglie, but it was not approved on the contrary, he had hopes given him that the Count de Saxe should march into Bohemia and raise the Blockade in the Winter. When his Excellency had once taken this Resolution, he insinuated to the principal Officers about him, that it would be no difficult Matter to subsist themselves by surprizing some of the Austrian Posts, where he was well inform'd they had great Magazines of all Sorts. He likewise prevailed on them, on a Presumption of Count Saxe's favouring their Retreat, to part with their heavy Baggage; and thus he fitted them for the Execution of his Design, without acquainting them with it. In the mean time Prince Lobkowitz, who had very exact Intelligence of all our Motions, cantonn'd his Troops about Brandeis, Beraun, and Konigslau, in order to prevent our surprizing any of his Magazines. This was precisely what the Marshal desired, and having Intelligence that the Prince had pass'd the Elbe, and that the River was so incumber'd with Ice as to oblige him to withdraw his Bridges, our General thought the Time come which he had so long expected.

On the 15th in the Evening, after the Gates were shut, he gave Orders to have every thing ready for a March by the 17th, at One in the Morning. He then put in practice Two Stratagems; the one, to prevent the Enemy's immediate Intelligence; and the other, to distract their Councils when they should have certain Advice of our March. With the former View, the Gates were open'd in the Morning, and some Squadrons of Dragoons were detached to reconnoitre the Country, as if a general Forage only was intended. To effect the latter, he wrote to the French Minister at Dresden, that he was march'd with Part of his Forces, and that he had left the Count de Baviere with 6000 Men in the Place. And to make the latter Account still the more probable, the Count wrote a Letter to the same Purpose, assuring M. Desfalleurs he should be able to hold out the Place till the Beginning of May. About Noon on the 16th, he ordered the Gates to be shut, in order to prevent the Enemy's having any farther Intelligence, since the greatest Danger lay in the first Day's March through an open Country, where the Hussars might have had the fairest Opportunity of cutting us off. About 10 at Night, a Detachment of 900 Men was draughted from all our Battalions, and left under the Command of M. de Chevers, the King's Lieutenant, to represent the Count de Baviere's Garrison, and in order to prevent the Townsfolk from maltreating our sick Men.

At the Hour appointed we began our March, with between 7 and 8000 Foot, and about 1700 Horse. The Design had been so well laid, and so exactly executed, that we pierced the Chain of Hussars which formed the Blockade, with very little Resistance, and continued our March to Teuchlowitz, with much less Loss than we expected. There we surprized 16 Cuirassiers, the rest having fled at our Approach, and these we dismissed the next Day, with a civil Message to Prince Lobkowitz. It is impossible to describe the Misery of our 10 Days March, in the Middle of a rigorous Season, thro' a desert Country covered with Ice and Snow, where the Roads were in a manner impassable, the Days short and obscured with Fogs, and attended by Hussars in our Front and Rear, and continually attempting on the Baggage, tho' marching in the Centre. On the 23d his Excellency directed the Horse to leave us, and march by themselves, in order to make the best of their Way to Egra. We followed them thro' Roads pointed out to us by the Marshal himself, who during the whole March lay tortured with the Hip-Gout, which hindered him from being able to mount on Horseback; yet on every Emergency he caused himself to be taken out of his Coach, and carry'd in a Horse-Litter where-ever he thought his Presence most necessary. What griev'd us most was, the Necessity we were under to leave a great Number of our Sick behind us in a miserable Condition, with no other Guard than a Trumpet; who had Orders to beseech the Enemy, as soon as they should come up, to afford these wretched Men some Relief, from a Principle of Humanity. At last we are arriv'd here; and tho' many have been starv'd with Cold, and about 400 killed in Skirmishes during the March, yet I persuade myself, that the preserving of the rest will pass for a kind of Miracle. We have just now received Advice that our Artillery is at hand, for which we were in great Pain; but we have another Piece of News that is not altogether so acceptable, viz. that eight Austrian Regiments of Foot are returned into Bohemia, and if so, we may be again block'd up here.

Dresden, Jan. 1. Our last Letters from Bohemia inform us, that Prince Lobkowitz having given Orders to the Generals Nadafti and Festitz to pursue and harass M. Belle-Isle, on the 22d of last Month he invell'd Prague, and having brought some Artillery before the Place, summon'd it to surrender. About three or four Days were spent in Messages to and from the Town, till at length M. de Chevers being apprehensive the Scholars and Citizens, who were better acquainted with his Strength than the Prince, might rise and attack him, was at length glad to accept the Conditions offered him; and accordingly on the 27th the Austrians took possession of that City, to the incredible Joy of the Inhabitants.

L O N D O N.

On the last of December N.S. between Seven and Eight in the Evening, died at Manheim, Charles-Philip, Elector Palatine, Duke of Juliers and Bergue, aged 81 Years, 1 Month, and 27 Days. This Prince was born Nov. 4. 1661. On July 24. 1688, he married the Princess Radzivil, Widow of the Margrave Lewis of Brandenburg, by whom he had the Princess Elizabeth, who in 1717 married the Hereditary Prince of Sultzbach. In 1701 the late Elector married the Princess Tereza Lubomirski, who died in 1716. The Demise of this Prince will in all Probability occasion a great Turn in the Affairs of Germany.

According to the last Advices from Paris, besides the late Augmentation of the Cavalry and 30,000 Militia, Orders are given out for raising four Independent Companies of 1200 Men, and 20000 Swifs; so that in the Whole, the French Army will be increased since last Year by 108,764 fresh Troops.

M. de Maurepas and M. Orry have refused to confer with the Cardinal Tencin as Prime Minister; but as M. Bretuil Secretary at War, and all the other Ministers have made no scruple of taking this Step, they must speedily lose their Places, or learn to follow their Example.

Private Letters from Nuremberg, dated Dec. 31. say, that by Advices from Egra they were inform'd Marshal Bellisle was arrived there with 8700 Men, having lost between 2 and 3000 by Cold, Fatigue, and in Skirmishes, as well as a great Part of his Baggage, and all his Artillery, except four small Pieces of Cannon.

The States of Holland, before they separated, appointed Deputies to confer with the Towns of Dort and the Brill, in order to persuade them to acquiesce in the Resolution lately taken in that Assembly, to assist the Queen of Hungary with 20,000 Men, and to enter on the Execution of other Engagements in favour of that Princess.

They write from Elsinore of the 22d of December, N. S. That his Excellency Geheime Radh Berkentine, went from thence the Day before for Stockholm, in Character of Ambassador Extraordinary from the Court of Denmark to that of Sweden.

Yesterday Morning an Express arrived at the Admiralty, with the News of the Arrival at the Island of Lundy in Bristol Channel, of Admiral Vernon, in his Majesty's Ship the Boyne, from Jamaica. She had hazy Weather for several Days, and not having an Observation, by that means mistook St. George's Channel.

The Princess Ann, Capt. French, from Lisbon for London, is lost on the Back of the Isle of Wight.

On Thursday last died at his House in Pond-street, Hampstead, Mr. Robert Bridges, formerly an eminent Attorney at Law.

To-morrow Six Months Pay will be issued out at the Pay-Office, Whitehall, to the Staff-Officers in Great Britain, Minorca, Gibraltar, and the Garrisons in Great Britain, with the Allowance of Fire and Candle, from the 25th of December, 1741. to the 24th of June, 1742. inclusive.

And also the Pay of the General and Staff Officers of the Forces in Flanders, with the Officers of the Hospital there, will be issued out at the said Office to the 24th of December, 1742.

We have an Account from Jamaica, that Lieut. Col. Halden, of General Guise's Regiment of Foot, lately died there.

It is currently reported, that at the Meeting of the Parliament a Bill will be brought in for laying a further Duty on Spirits at the Still Head, and also a Licence of £1. per Ann. on those who retail Spirituous Liquors; and that the present Gin Act will be repealed.

THE Daily Success which has constantly attended the Taking Dr. BATEMAN'S TONIC Drops, in the several Disorders of Cold, Coughs, Pains in the Breast, Limbs, and Joints, has gain'd a universal Character, that few Families care to be without them in their Houses. Besides the Disorders mentioned, there is no Medicine, since the Discovery of Art of Physick, that will give a Speedier Relief and Cure in Rheumatick Pains, Gout, Stone, Gravel, Cholick, Fluxes, Innumerable Instances might be given of the happy Effects thereof, but we choose to refer to a Book, call'd, The Treatise of the Virtues of Dr. BATEMAN'S TONIC Drops, given Gratis, at the Warehouse above-said, where Shop-keepers, &c. in any City, Town, or Village, where these Drops are not already Sold, may be supplied, with Allowance to sell again, by Directing or Sending to the VENTER, BENJAMIN ORRILL, WM. and CARRA DICKS.

The Surprising Encouragement, which by constant Success, these most Valuable Drops have, for upwards of Twenty Years, met with, not only in Great Britain and Ireland, in all Parts of the West-Indies, and other Foreign Countries, has lately induced several mean and mercenary Pretences, to counterfeit them; and by imitating our Seal, Bill of Directions, and Show-Boards, with our Method of Advertising, near as they can or dare to do, without making them thereby impose their dangerous Compositions upon the credulous Shop-keepers both in Town and Country, the True and Genuine Sort.

The PATENTEE and Company therefore, in Gratitude for the universal good Reception they have so long met with, for the Safety of those who for the future may be deceived using the same, think themselves absolutely oblig'd to this necessary Caution.

Which they earnestly request may be observed,

Sealed with the Seal of the PATENTEE, as in the Margin, and that the Names of the PATENTEE, Dr. BATEMAN, William and Clara Dicks, be on the Bill of Directions given with each Bottle, without which you may be offer'd a notorious Counterfeit, and may be of the most dangerous Consequence.

N.B. That these Drops are also Sold Retail (as well Wholesale) at the Warehouse above-said, at One Shilling per Bottle, containing three Doses.
